THE PRESENTERS:

Jonathan Moody, FAIA, NOMA, NCARB, LEED AP, Fitwel

As CEO of Moody Nolan, Jonathan's work resides at the intersection of architecture and service; he brings transformational design to under-served communities. He believes architecture is a medium through which people can come together and participate in positive social change.

Scott Hurst, AIA

Scott is a Design Director and Principal with Gensler who leads design with a passion for community-driven projects spanning innovative higher education spaces, civic and spiritual institutions, and health and wellness facilities. His commitment to the community explores creative solutions for the adaptive reuse of existing buildings.
